RACE 1

JOEY'S BEST - This barn is making a serious push to the top and they might have the stock and ability to get there. Claimed from a similar condition two starts back I loved that they tried him against tougher in the city and decide to run him back on dirt.

NO GUS NO GLORY - I like this horse especially running this distance. He is fresh but he's limited in starts and was recently scratched when last entered, so I have reason to be slightly concerned although I still like him and think he must be considered a top threat.

BORREGO ROAD - Here's that barn again. Insurance horse.

IT'S A POSSIBILITY - Has the rail and speed although Doppler Radar can run with him. I guess "DR" can hurt him but I will stay with what I know is a sharp horse.

YANKEE BAILEY WEST - I can't discount this horse. His numbers are good enough and he'll likely get the perfect trip under a smart rider. I'd like a little more if we were running 3/4's but it may not matter. If my top choice doesn't hang on I think this horse will win.

BUBBLE WRAPPED - He's a proven claimer at this level and he's a nice stalker and closer. As nice as that is I have to take a stand and I do feel the other two horses are stronger.

RACE 3

HEY NOW - He's fresh and he just won this condition 7 days ago and he made it look easy. If that's not enough Howard Stern called and said to BET!

WORTH A PUNT - He's been freshened and the two drills coming back to the track are a good sign.

ALMOST OUT OF THE BLUE - He broke awkward last time and still ran well. There was no beating the winner as he was a horse taking a significant class drop. A board member.

RACE 4

LEGATO - He ran what most people call FLAT. It was, however his debut at Fort Erie (I don't know why that is an excuse) but I want to pick him so I will give him an excuse and give him ONE more chance.

DULCIE - The track surface got the better of Dulcie last time and we may see him return to his maiden victory form but I'm somewhere in between.

SILVER FEELING - This horse is a hanger if I've ever seen one. Just when he gets close to taking the lead he stops to ask the other horse for directions. Every time I bet him I get that Silver Feeling.

RACE 5

REMIEWARNINGBLUZ - I have a REMI too.

YACHT HUND - She showed ability in her Fort Erie start and they must like her because they won't give her away here and you would have had to pay a little in the city if you liked her. She looks like she fits pretty nicely in this field. A win candidate.

IM TELLING EVERYONE - Longshot with a chance. The hood goes on and I like the cutback to a one-turn race.

RACE 6

CHERRY RING POP - The speed.

HIGHS AND LOWS - I'm bending a rule or two by picking her but I have an uneasy feeling not including her. She just ran and they enter her 2 days later for a 5-day comeback. She essentially faced a win machine monster in her last and she lost all chance at the gate yet made a good account of herself. The start prior to that was too far and she's been facing tougher mares all year.

SET DIAMOND - Hunch.

RACE 7

PRINCESS NATALIE - I know for a fact that there's a "Natalie" at the track somewhere today and watch the replay of her last. Did she love the grass or did she love the grass?

SWEEPING FRONT - I think this girl has a chance to win. I think she will really like the grass surface based on her bloodlines.

SOUL SYMPHONY - Probably looking at favorite status and with good reason but she's an underlay and there are reasons to play against.

RACE 8

PLAYIN' IN MY WHISKEY - Overcame the overland route in his latest to run a nice second. Won't have to run as far today.

ROMAN EMPIRE - I haven't seen this rider/trainer combination before but it got my attention.

BEST IN EGBERT - City shipper should find these easier.

TERRAQUANT

NOT FOO LING

Upset Special - SET DIAMOND (6TH)
