

Mike Dimoff's TIP SHEET

Sunday, June 3, 2012

RACE 1

DERAILED - Derailed will see a large relief in competition coming out of respectable efforts against tougher. On paper he looks like a winner.

INSPIRED FOX - A small part of me was tempted to take this guy on top. Steve Attard is 25% when moving horses down this far in class and the horse showed speed in debut and shortens up in distance today. If you're the type to single your daily double's or pick 3's be careful you don't get Derailed by a Fox crossing the tracks.

STORMIN HOT - Stormin Hot will likely improve with a start under his belt. Curious to see that KJ left for the first-time starter though.

RACE 2

APRIL HALO - It appears that this filly has matured with her races. The track is supposed to come up wet Sunday and that should not hurt her chances. I like her with the rail in the 3rd start of her cycle.

COZZY TRAILS - Lets face it... she needed her last start and for a turf try I can't be too discouraged. She will see her 3rd different surface and she has shown enough speed in her previous races to be a threat.

JUST LIKE BOO - I really liked what I saw from the first-time starter in her debut. She was headed and fought gamely to the wire. She came back on for second. Then I broke down the race and the numbers. My good impression was then a little tarnished. I will take her 3rd on her heart and spirit.

RACE 3

FIRSTIMAGE - FirstImage puts up good numbers against these horses and is well rested and freshened

CLEVER KING - That was a clever ride that got him the money last time... a threat for the green again.

PENTHOUSE VIEW - I'm not sure he will like the wet stuff but in case he does and speed is holding he may break away and forget to stop.

RACE 4

HOWWONDOFULITIS - Filly is making her 1st start of the season but the barn hits 21% off a 90+ day hiatus and has been heating up over the past weeks. She didn't fire her best fresh last season but she is down 2 classes in this season's debut.

CALL TO SERVE - Call To Serve is jumping up in price and that's because she's for real. I believe she can handle the raise. She hasn't done too much wrong.

SHER'S EXPECTATION - Sher caught me off guard in her "Fort" unveiling. She made it look easy and the 2nd place finisher came back and looked good winning. That's a nice reference but if that's not enough Sher sports solid mud pedigree. Surprise package!

RACE 5

BEAR WHITE SOCKS - "I THOUGHT I TOLD YOU NOT TO WEAR YOUR WHITE SOCKS WHEN IT WAS RAINING....NOW THEY'RE COVERED IN MUD!!!"

SILENT PASSION - I'm not real crazy about this race.

ONE TOUGH WITCH - She is a mudder. Her daddy was a mudder and her mudder was a mudder. Don't leave her out.

RACE 6

MIA'S MIRACLE - I like this horse. I have since late last Summer. I don't like the quick turnaround and the potential for bounce is a concern but how could I go against a horse that I like.

POINTLESS LOVE - This is a tough racehorse. What's not to like based on that last Fort Erie race. I'm guessing this race is coming off the turf based on the forecast and it feels like they won't scratch this horse. He has mud pedigree but I'm only guessing they will let him run if it comes off. I'm hoping he runs.

WICKED MISCHIEF - Good closer is a Distorted Humor and they love the off going... although he's never won on it before.

RACE 7

SKIP THE NIGHT - "Skippy" stands the chance to dictate his own terms as long as the track does not come up overly tiring.

WHO'S HOT NOW - Could be a re-match of the last outing but it all depends on how the track plays today.

WITH ALL DILIGENCE - She suits the distance better than a few of these and she has the numbers to compete with my top selections.

RACE 8

COMING HOME SOON - This horse will stretch out and drops into a good spot in the 3rd start of his cycle.

DINO DINARO - Crazy hunch.

ALPHABET KID - He's likely the one to beat. The jockey is riding well and the horse did well enough on this surface last season. He arrives fit and ready.

Most Likely - Not Today
Upset Special - DINO DINARO (8TH)